

Ready for Europe

Today's Europe is merging together, and contact with other regions of the world is constantly intensifying.

This increasingly presents global businesses as well as internationally operating institutions and administrative services with tasks that demand an awareness of the special aspects within this transnational region.

The European Studies programme, a continuing studies programme in the social sciences, economics, and business at the University of Flensburg, will qualify students to work in such an environment. In addition to knowledge of European economic institutions and intra-European relations, students will gain an awareness of the history and cultural development of both the continent as a whole and its regions.

Graduates will be given the tools to work with international corporations with European ties, organizations with international tasks, and institutions developed to work across national boundaries.

This two-year programme leads to an International Master of Arts in European Studies. The language of instruction is English, and the programme is designed for students from all around the world.

European Studies

International Master of Arts

The University of Flensburg

Situated on the German-Danish border at the end of a beautiful fjord, this city of seafarers and traders is more than 700 years old. With its quaint alleyways and picturesque courtyards, Flensburg exudes a charm unto itself – cosmopolitan yet friendly.

It is here that our young university is located, which was founded in 1946. Since 2002, the University of Flensburg has shared a new campus with the Flensburg University of Applied Sciences and offers all the facilities that you would expect from a modern university.

The University of Flensburg is innovative and international and offers programmes in many important fields of social and environmental policy. Our campus is compact, which allows students direct and easy access to both lecturers and administrative staff.

Programme of Study

The goal of the masters programme is to impart a broad knowledge of Europe and the European Union.

There is a focus on providing a comprehensive and sophisticated awareness of European legislation, institutional structures and the political system of the European Union and its Member States. Beyond this, the curriculum also explores questions related to the role of Europe in the world economy, European contemporary history, its philosophy and civil society.

The programme concludes with a semester spent writing a Master's thesis.

First Year

Module	ECTS credits
European Ideas	6 ECTS
Constitutional/Institutional Economics	6 ECTS
European Regional Integration	6 ECTS
Europe in the Global Economy	6 ECTS
European Governance	9 ECTS
European Contemporary History	9 ECTS
European Law	9 ECTS
European Regional Innovation Policy	9 ECTS

Second Year

Module	ECTS credits
Institutional Innovation	6 ECTS
European Border Region Development	9 ECTS
Elective Courses	15 ECTS
Master's Thesis	30 ECTS

A special aspect of our study programme is the emphasis on the role of regions and the regional particularities of Europe in a political, socio-economical, and cultural context. This emphasis highlights possibilities for cooperation across borders.

Our programme is a clear example of cooperation as it is a joint project with the neighboring University of Southern Denmark.

Tuition Fees

The University of Flensburg charges no tuition fee; there is an administrative fee of approx. 85 Euro per semester, which also covers use of public transport.
